Author / Editor
JAY PAISLEY

Civil War Letters to Beaver County, Pennsylvania from a young soldier in the 100th PA regiment (Roundheads).

Like Henry Fleming, from Stephen Crane's classic fictional novel The Red Badge of Courage, Huffman did his duty.

While reading his letters you will see the horrors of War through the eyes of an actual Henry Flemming.

THE HUFFMAN LETTERS acts as a time machine. Upon reading them you are transported back to the American Civil War. William experienced this "Great War" from the young age of 16 to 20. As you read the letters you are made aware of his changing emotional state as the war progressed.
